Leadership Foreword

Rabbi Larry Sernovitz

CEO Hillels of Georgia

In the wake of October 7th, we found ourselves in a remarkable position - not to retreat, but to strengthen and expand our sacred mission.

Throughout a year marked by challenge and transformation, we remained steadfast in engaging both Jewish and non-Jewish students, fostering a campus environment rooted in growth, purpose, and inspiration. Our impact has deepened, our reach has widened, and our dedication to cultivating vibrant Jewish life has only grown stronger.

This has been a year of meaningful expansion - not only in numbers, but in spirit. And we believe the most impactful chapters are still ahead.

OUR MISSION

To create vibrant Jewish life on every campus in Georgia.

OUR VISION

Inspire every student to proudly embrace their Jewish journey, making an enduring connection to Jewish life and Israel.

Hillel UGA

"Everything at Hillel UGA is student-driven. From our large range of holiday programs to intimate and insightful conversations, our students are not simply participants - they're the heart of everything we do."

We welcome everyone, no matter their background or level of observance, and our space feels more like a second home than an organization. There's always something going on: laughing over late-night bagels, diving into deep discussions, or just spending time with friends. With strong campus support and a community that's warm, inclusive, and full of spirit, Hillel UGA is where Jewish students come to find connection, meaning, and each other."

Jeremy Lichtig
Hillel UGA Campus Director

Nate Aronstein, Hillel UGA Board Member
Class of 2028 at Israel Fest

"Sending your child off to college is never easy - especially in today's climate. I hoped Hillel UGA would be a place my son could find connection, but he had to take that first step himself. Hillel became his home. Notably, he confidently represented Hillel on IsraelFest, answering questions and proudly standing up for his beliefs."

Nanci Aronstein, Freshman Parent

UGA President, Jere W. Morehead, attending this year's Passover Seder

This year, Hillel UGA partnered with the Office of the President and the Vice President for Student Affairs.

Since October 7, administration has acted swiftly to ensure our Hillel community felt supported. From regular check-ins to collaborative programming, fostering Jewish life has become a core part of building a stronger, more inclusive Bulldawg community.

Hillel at the University of Georgia isn't just a place to be Jewish. It's the place where students make Jewish life their own.

- Mara Zeichner, Associate Campus Director

"The skills I gained on the Hillel UGA student board still help me in my career, but even more meaningful were the relationships that shaped my Jewish identity. Hillel is where I discovered who I am, found my closest friends, and built a lasting connection to Judaism. I always make time to visit when I'm in Athens, and since graduating in 2019, I've watched Hillel UGA grow with so much pride. I can't wait for my own child to one day experience the same. Hillel is where friends become family."

Savannah Bradford, Hillel UGA Class of 2019

More than 20 Hillel UGA students participated in Taglit-Birthright in 2025.

"Hillel UGA is a gift.

I came to UGA as a transfer student, feeling completely out of the loop with student life. I was instantly greeted with warmth and acceptance that ultimately launched me into becoming a student activist. I can confidently, and wholeheartedly say that I would not have gotten as involved as I was with activism and student life if Hillel was not on my campus."

Shani Gilad, UGA Class of 2025

GREEK LIFE CHALLAH BAKE

Partnering with Greek houses and small groups, Hillel UGA students baked challah together - sharing in tradition and community-building.

Emory Hillel

This year at Emory Hillel, our key themes of pluralism and Zionism were on display in different ways: diversity of Jewish cultural identities, religious identities, and travel to Jewish sites worldwide.

Emory Hillel stands out because our students aren't a monolith. We embrace pluralism in all its forms. Whether it's through deep conversations, diverse programming, or just creating a space where students feel at home, we're building a Jewish community that reflects the complexity and vibrancy of our campus."

Lee Shaffer
Emory Hillel Campus Director

Emory Hillel students participated in the Jewish Learning Fellowship

"Emory Hillel has definitely been a place where I have felt comfortable embracing my Jewish identity. I've loved attending Shabbat dinners and meeting up with people for bagels on Thursdays has always been super fun! It always reminds me that there is a place for me at Emory, even amongst all the hate."

Ainsley Freedman, Class of 2028

Emory students feel at home celebrating holidays like Shabbat, Rosh Hashanah, and Sukkot at Hillel, where they find a welcoming space filled with community, comfort, and joy.

Emory Hillel students came together on the anniversary of October 7th for gatherings focused on reflection, solidarity, and healing.

More than 960 students participated in Emory Hillel programming this year, which represents a 20% increase over the 2023-2024 academic year.

IsraelFest 2025

The night before IsraelFest at Emory, individuals wrote messages across campus, including phrases like "IDF = Genocide" and "Free Palestine."

I encouraged my classmates to look past the messages. We are PROUD of who we are. And we want to CELEBRATE that."

GSU Hillel

Creating Vibrant
Jewish Life on Campus

Hillel
GEORGIA STATE

"Hillel at Georgia State University serves a diverse and growing Jewish student population on a large, urban commuter campus in downtown Atlanta."

What makes our Hillel unique is the depth of connection students build in a setting where Jewish life isn't always visible. Our students are creating vibrant, meaningful Jewish experiences. In a time when it can feel especially challenging to be Jewish on campus, GSU Hillel offers a space where students feel seen, supported, and proud to show up as their full selves."

Bella Potash

GSU Hillel Campus Director

Students celebrate Purim in collaboration with Hillel at Georgia Tech

Looking back, Hillel was the heart of my college experience. It was the place where I felt most connected not just Jewishly, but personally. It gave me the confidence to lead, the space to ask hard questions, and the community I didn't know I needed. Even after graduating, I still carry the lessons and relationships I built there.

Gabbi Naturman, Class of 2021

GSU Students at the first annual "Cava and Candlelight" Shabbat Dinner

"When I think back on my time at Georgia State, Hillel is what stands out the most. It wasn't just where I made friends; it's where I found my voice as a Jewish student. Whether we were processing something difficult happening in the world or just celebrating a holiday together, Hillel gave me space to show up exactly as I am. I'm leaving college with a stronger sense of identity."

Georgia State Senior, Class of 2025

Every week, I look forward to JLF* and Coffee+Kvetch. I feel like I have friends who understand me, and I can be completely transparent with. -Sierrah Rice, Class of 2028

JLF*

The Jewish Learning Fellowship

The Jewish Learning Fellowship at GSU Hillel was a 7-week journey where students explored Judaism, identity, and values through deep, honest conversation. Rooted in Jewish texts and tradition, the program creates space for students to ask big questions about identity, purpose, and values without judgment or expectation. By building community and sparking personal growth, JLF represented the heart of GSU Hillel's mission to create meaningful, inclusive Jewish experiences.

Students participated in GSU Hillel's Jewish Learning Fellowship.

"I did not participate in any Hillel events last semester until I felt especially isolated and afraid to wear my state of David necklace after an encounter with a Pro-Palestinian protester at GSU. Reaching out to the Hillel representative is the best decision I've made all semester. Hillel helps me feel more at home on campus, because I know there are a group of people here who understand and respect my religious views."

HOLOCAUST REMEMBRANCE

In partnership with Georgia State University, GSU Hillel hosted a moving event with Holocaust survivors, bringing together students and campus leaders to reflect and stand against antisemitism.

POST-OCTOBER 7 VIGIL

On an emotional day, GSU students led a courageous and unifying vigil - offering strength, solidarity, and visibility for Jewish life amid anti-Israel protests.

KSU Hillel

"KSU Hillel is a small but mighty community. While there are many students who are commuters, there are also a large number of students living just off campus and eager to get involved in Jewish life with their peers."

KSU Hillel is a close-knit and welcoming community where students, both commuters and those living near campus, find meaningful connection and Jewish life. Many become regulars at events like Bagel Breaks, Chai Teas, social nights, and Shabbats. With strong ties to Israel and a new Jewish Agency for Israel Fellow on the way, students value being together, and for many, their Hillel friends are their core community on campus."

Sarah Foster

KSU Hillel Campus Director

"Because of the leadership abilities of the students, I always include the Hillel President on my personal advisory council. I have also been impressed by the visibility of Hillel on campus. They really make an effort to be part of the KSU community and make students feel they are supported. Hillel continues to make a positive and profound impact on KSU."

Eric Arneson,

KSU Vice President for Student Affairs

Tal Grinberg, class of 2026, representing Hillel KSU at IsraelFest with friends

"Since Tal was born in Israel, we have always been attached to the Jewish community with Israeli Scouts and things like that. When she discovered Hillel, the events were more what she envisioned for herself and for her Jewish identity. She loves to be involved and is always talking about her friends and her involvement in Hillel."

It's not easy being an Israeli on campus right now but being in Hillel she feels like she can be herself. It's a great experience for her to learn how to share her knowledge about Israel with others."

Marianna Grinberg, KSU Hillel Parent

KSU Hillel completely changed my college experience. My first year was during Covid. As campus slowly re-opened, I stumbled upon IsraelFest and soon found myself at Bagel Breaks. The rest is history.

- Sarina Amar, Class of 2025

"I had the honor of serving on the board, then as the president. It is the most rewarding organization I have ever been part of and I'm so thankful to have grown as a leader and as a friend.

I had no idea a Jewish community was missing from my life until I found one.

It's the best place for me to be unapologetically myself!"

Sarina Amar, KSU Class of 2025

GT Hillel

"GT Hillel is a safe space for Jewish students to engage with their Jewish identity and create community. We offer a wide range of Jewish programs, which we have sustained for at least 30 years.

Between religious and social programs, our Hillel community is adaptive to the current students on campus while maintaining history and long-standing programs."

Sydney Harlow

Georgia Tech Hillel Campus Director

"Hillel fosters a strong sense of community and a welcoming environment to meet new people and hang out with Jewish friends. I've had the opportunity to celebrate holidays that I never really celebrated or recognized at home."

Shana Friedman, Class of 2028

Hillel at Georgia Tech

Building community at Georgia Tech
Hillel's welcome back campfire

"Being a part of the Hillel community was one of the best decisions I made during college. As a freshman, I wasn't sure how involved I would be with Jewish life on campus. I can now say I've created lifelong friendships and memories thanks to my Hillel community. As I look back on my experience, I'm so grateful for the memories I made with Hillel...from river rafting to s'mores nights, dressing up to go to the Fox, and all the Bagel Breaks and coffee chats in between."

Dani Barnard, Class of 2025

“Hillel at Georgia Tech has made me PROUD to be Jewish this year. I’ve made strong connections with Jewish classmates that I probably would not have had the chance to get to know otherwise.”

- Jayson Faupel, Class of 2028

OCT. 7 MEMORIAL

In collaboration with other Jewish organizations, Georgia Tech Hillel hosted a powerful day of remembrance featuring student art, educational materials, and musical tributes.

Hillels of Georgia is proud to connect Jewish students and community members statewide.

Despite the distinct identities of each of our 10 campus Hillels, Hillels of Georgia serves as the umbrella organization that unites them all. Hillels of Georgia is consistently building a connected, statewide movement for Jewish life on campus. While each Hillel reflects the unique culture of its university, together they form a vibrant and collaborative network that strengthens Jewish student engagement across Georgia.

In Fiscal Year 2025, Hillels of Georgia proudly hosted a series of impactful statewide initiatives that brought students together beyond their individual campuses. These included:

An Evening with Naftali Bennett

Content Creators Forum

Stand with Hillel 2025

An Evening with Naftali Bennett

In November 2024, Hillels of Georgia hosted former Israeli Prime Minister Naftali Bennett at The Temple in Atlanta.

The sold out event was standing room only, with over 520 students, university leaders, and community members joining together for an unforgettable evening.

Collaboration with University Leadership

The presence of multiple university presidents and civic leaders underscored a shared commitment to supporting Jewish students and addressing pressing issues such as antisemitism and campus climate. Their engagement signaled a critical recognition: that fostering safe, inclusive, and informed environments for Jewish life on campus is not only a Jewish concern; it's a priority for institutions across Georgia.

Unprecedented Access, Unifying Impact

Students, representing all ten campus Hillels across Georgia, gathered for the rare opportunity to hear directly from a former Prime Minister of Israel. The event showcased the strength of Hillels of Georgia as a statewide movement: amplifying Jewish connection, identity, and leadership through shared experiences and meaningful dialogue.

Off-the-Record, On-Point

Prime Minister Bennett's conversation was held off the record, fostering a private, candid atmosphere that invited real dialogue.

His message to Jewish students was clear. They must continue to:

Connect with Israel.
Stay informed.
Speak up.

Content Creators Forum

In its inaugural year at Hillels of Georgia, the Content Creators Forum was packed with engaging sessions and interactive workshops, fostering creativity and skills in storytelling, social media, and Jewish diversity.

Thirty individual students representing seven Georgia campuses participated in the Content Creators Forum.

Sessions included a media bias discussion with Josh Levs and Jackie Gold, an exclusive briefing with Consul General Anat Sultan-Dadon, and hands-on content creation workshops led by Logan Swerdloff and Aron Goodman.

“During my senior year of high school, I was targeted online just for being openly Jewish and sharing about the war in Israel. The Content Creators Forum helped me learn how to counter antisemitism, use social media more strategically, and connect with like-minded students. It was not only empowering, but absolutely worth it.”

Marin Gezymalla, Georgia Tech, Class of 2028

Stand with Hillel 2025

In its largest, sold out year, Stand with Hillel 2025 brought together over 350 supporters, students, and leaders to celebrate the impact of Hillels of Georgia and reaffirm its commitment to Jewish life on campus.

The evening honored Lisa and Seth Greenberg, Consul General Anat Sultan-Dadon, and featured powerful student voices, moving tributes, and the announcement of the new Mike Leven Leadership Institute.

Lisa and Seth Greenberg were honored with the Billi & Bernie Marcus Visionary Award for their exceptional leadership and dedication to Jewish campus life, including their longtime commitment to the Hillel International Board of Governors and the Hillels of Georgia Israel Fellows program.

“There’s something powerful about walking into a Hillel space and seeing students from all backgrounds come together. No matter how the world shifts around us, we still have each other.”

Rami Fabian, Emory University Class of 2025

“The rise in antisemitism on campus is real. Hillel is the reason students still feel proud to be Jewish.”

Matthew Bronfman,
Chair of Hillel International’s
Board of Governors

Consul General Anat Sultan-Dadon was presented with the “We Stand with Israel” Award.

Overall, Stand with Hillel 2025 was a powerful evening of resilience and celebration, honoring Jewish campus life at Hillels of Georgia and our esteemed award recipients.
